

A Lawyer Dedicated to Your Best Interests

Stefanie takes great care when handling all her cases, no matter the type. She makes it a priority to start her attorney/client relationships with an initial consultation where she can gather all the facts and discuss sensible options.

You want someone dedicated to your cases, someone you can trust, and someone you can communicate with regularly.

After Stefanie's legal representation, most clients keep in regular contact with her and continue to retain her when they need an attorney.

Stefanie takes pride in building lasting relationships with her clients. Your case will not be pushed through an assembly line, ignored until the last minute, or valued by the size of your estate. Your case will be in the hands of someone who recognizes that you are an individual and not just a case name.

Our focus is on the best interests of the clients.
